DEDICATION

To the memory of William Amos Johnson, B.A., M.D.

an alumnus and professor at Wake Forest College, who died in the service of the school. A promising young anatomist, finding time to become the popular trainer of the football squad, met his death, by accident, in this capacity. Doctor Johnson's death occurred the year this graduating class entered college. The love and admiration of the faculty, a past student body and of the present senior class warrants this sincere expression.

To the Class of '31

O SOLID Rock of Truth
Gibrallar of the Century:
Thou hast stood the test of Time—
The storms of prevailing winds,
Of Criticism, Doubts, and Fears.
For a century, an hundred years
Of glorions motherhood,
Thy noble name sublime
Has enticed the best of youth
Within thy sacred walls wherein
The anchor of perpetual Truth
Has been fastened more securely in the sands
of Loye;

And though the storms of future years May toss thy frail barque about Upon the waves of tempestous seas, Thy anchor imbedded in the hearts of men Will hold until Time is no more.

We see thy vine-clad walls; Walls made sacred by Time and Place, Behind which hearts beat and blend as one; And every spring the coming of the green Into the vines that overlap the caves Brings a freshness to the walls That have become worn with age; And Spring's vibrant breath upon the green

Is symbolic of the living Truth
That grows and grows eternally
Behind these ramparts of undying strength.
And though these outward crusts may erumble to decay,

The unseen forces massed behind thy battlements

Will drive invading hordes away.

Let us tread thy sacred paths; Paths that lead hither and you

ivy leaves

Among mellowing trees that bend With the secrets of an hundred years. Bend low thy pregnant boughs, O trees, And whisper in our ears. The revelations of triumphing souls. That they in turn may lead us on To mountain peaks whereon Climbing feet have gone. To unfurl thy standard in the breeze As a challenge to the world.

Let us sit at the feet of thy masters—
Men who are the embodiment of true wisdom;
Men who are as broad as the breadth of

Time;
Men who teach from the school of knowledge

Men who teach from the school of knowledge and experience;

Men who love Truth for the sake of loving; Men who give themselves for the sake of giving,

Mea who transplant the teaching and spirit of Christ.

Let us absorb the teaching and spirit of these masters,

That we in turn may look up and laugh and love and lift,

Let us walk with the myriad of spirits That beekon to us across the green sward; Let us clasp hands with the numberless men Who have been crowned with the victor's reward.

Let us be enveloped by their spirit of love, By their spirit of unselfish devotion;

Let us sing in the choir of the gallant unseen;

Let us have a part in thine honored promotion.

L. D. MUNN.

Senior Class History

As the early fall of 1927 a large heterogeneous group of newly graduated high school seniors east off the home ties and migrated to the magnolia-covered campus of Wake Forest College. From every section of the State, and from other states, we came, all seeking within these ivy-elad walls the way to knowledge, truth and honor. Two hundred and nineteen strong was this band of marked men; marked at the very entrance hecause we were freshmen—that peculiar specimen of humanity—a college necessity. The upper-classmen at once termed us "green." And we were green, the green that characterizes the new spring sapling—fresh and "sapling green," the shade which tells to the world that we were progressive and growing, full of vitality and vim.

The first two days we spent in orientating ourselves to the new environment. Then the "Kings of the Campus" arrived and entered upon their duty of imparting the "college spirit" into us freshmen. Those keen-eyed sophomores found us where even a telescope could not locate us, and we were taken on our first outing in the form of a warm "shirt-tail parade." Down the campus lanes we marched harmoniously singing, "How Green I am, Nohody Knows." Our speech-making and entertaining abilities were tested when we had to stand up before the crowd and loudly proclaim our names, where we were from and why! We received proper instruction in how to "buttom" and how to "catch the bottom round." As we "rats" made for our "holes" after it was all over we felt that we had truly learned something.

We organized ourselves into a class with T. A. Hauser as our first leader. Under his guidance we became a homogeneous group filled with loyalty for Wake Forest.

In reviewing the activities of the first year of the Class of '31, we find that in collegiate debate, in the publications, in athletics, and in all branches of the campus organizations, we took our places willingly and with the Wake Forest spirit surging in our veins. Our football team brought a successful season to a close by heating the varsity who early in the season had defeated the strong Carolina cleven. The band which was organized in the Fall was made up chiefly of freshmen.

The Class of '31 is unique in two ways. We entered here just as the beloved Dr. W. L. Poteat retired from the college presidency after successfully leading Wake Forest faithfully and wisely to great achievements. Thus, we were the first class to register under the new president, Dr. F. P. Gaines, whom we came to love and respect because of his pleasing personality and daring leadership. Then, again, for the first time in history we had the honor and privilege of having our pictures put in the Howler in individual form instead of group form as had been the practice. It was satisfaction indeed for us freshmen to open the Howler and find our individual pictures, and murmur cestatically. "Gosh, that's me!"

Returning in the Fall of '28 we elected the popular and efficient Arthur Myers to guide the destinies of the Class of '31 through its sophomore year. It was a fascinating task—introducing our innocent charges. the Class of '32 to the time-honored customs and traditions of this institution. A fine feeling of coöperation and good will sprang up between the hitherto hostile classes. The freshmen cap hurning, followed by a free show, was the climax in the formation of many friendships that made our college life a happy one.

We were distinctive that year in that we were the first class to lawfully paint our class numeral in large Gold and Black letters on the Meredith College water tank. A closer relationship was established with our "sister institution" when we were delightfully entertained at a sophomore party.

On the dawning of our third and Junior year, the Class of '31 with Paul Hutchins for president, began to settle down and think more seriously of the opportunities and advantages our College was offering to us. A transition took place within us as we awoke to realize that the college stage is ours for only a short time, that we must prepare and equip ourselves for life in the world outside. It was then that we did the hardest work of our college career, with nightly study the big event on our program.

In the scholastic and athletic fields we juniors produced outstanding men who made brilliant records bringing honor and glory to Wake Forest. A great love for our fellow students and for every one connected with this institution found an everlasting place in our hearts.

Entering the sacred portals of Wake Forest for the Sculor and final year, the members of the Class of '31 experienced a mixed feeling of sorrow and of joy. Sorrowful we were to think that soon our various pathways in life would lead us far from the comradeship of many friends made here, and now as we speak to each other in friendly tones we wish our college days could last awhile longer. But every beginning must have an end and, so with joy in our hearts, the last days have become days of hard work and eager anticipation—work to make certain of attaining the final goal, anticipation of the Jone day when we should reach that goal.

Arthur Myers was again selected to hold the chief office of the Class. The "Senior Smoker" under his direction will often be recalled in memory as our greatest social affair.

Again the Class of '31 is unique. We are the first to graduate under our new president, Dr. Thurman D. Kitchin, who is leading Wake Forest on to greater fame and glory. Also, and for the first time at a spring graduation, two co-eds of the Class, Misses Sarah Cullom and Catherine Paschal, are to receive the Bachelor degree from Wake Forest College.

Our classmates have taken prominent parts in athletics, the band, the glee club, the literary fields, and in all other campus organizations. The power and influence of the representatives of the class in college activities show that ours has been a well-rounded class, participating fully in the life of the College.

To those who for from years have patiently guided our footsteps along the pathway of knowledge, who have tolerated our mistakes, and rejoiced in our successes, we would pay a farewell tribute. The success of their labor in our behalf, berhaps shows but faintly at present. Future years alone will reveal the many lives inspired by them to nobler heights of service, directed by them along the road to success and honor.

And now as the sun clothed in rays of glory sinks low into western skies, so has the sun of our college days set. Tomorrow we respond to the call of the world, and may our deeds so shine that they will ever keep illuminated with honor the holy name of our Alma Mater—Wake Forest.

TAYLOR WESTBROOK WILCOX, Class Historian.

Senior Class Prophecy

THE soft moving waters of the Ocona Luftee River are flashing back the golden rays of the declining sun. Along the banks of the river the red men are fishing; the little brown boys are swimming in the shaded pools; and the Indian women are quietly passing with their little ones tied on their backs. But I am in the thrilling silence of evening in a world from which tumult and cares are usually banished, yet my heart is longing. With my family I have just driven from Atlanta, Georgia, to spend our usual summer vacation at the foot of the Great Smoky Mountains among the Cherokee Indians. In the early afternoon as we drove by the Nantahala gorge I saw a strange looking little man coming down a mountain path. To my great surprise I at once recognized my friend and classmate of twenty years ago, Milton Early. He is now America's greatest nature poet.

After leaving my old friend my soul began to long to know the destiny of my other classmates of '31. So here I am looking into the stainless waters of this mountain stream wondering where the men are with whom I so oft gathered within the ivy walls. Ah! I know one who can reveal this secret to me. So I walk down the rhododendron path, cross the swinging bridge, and get in my birch cance. I am going far up the river and then cross Rattlesnake Mountain to see Cosiah, the medicine-man and prophet. I became acquainted with him and learned his language when just a young man during the summers that I visited Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Lee, then missionaries to the Indians.

I have now reached the little mountain hut of this old Indian prophet. With the great Indian hospitality he greets me and says, "Friend, I see your mind is troubled; you are longing to know where your Wake Forest classmates are. I know how you feel; often have I longed for those of my race; but the red men have faded away like the mists of the morning. Our hatchets are broken; our hows are snapped; our fires are extinguished; and in a little while I. too, shall go the way my brethren have gone. I am now an old man; through many years have I been revealing life's hidden secrets to troubled hearts. The last revelation that I shall make to mortal man will be for you, my pale-faced friend. Listen as I tell you what each of your classmates is now doing."

Cosiah seated himself in a rustic hickory chair and after a few puffs from his long pipe he began

"A number of your classmates have never left Wake Forest, being connected with the college and the town. B. B. Castellow is professor in the department of chemistry. He also goes to Meredith twice a week to teach a class in Quantitative Analysis. I believe he went over there about that often when he was a student. J. R. Bender is bursar and secretary of the college, succeeding Mr. Earnshaw. Leroy Scott is professor in the Law Department. He has made a great record in the field of legal cthics. A. P. Phillips, as successor to Mr. Holliday, is superintendent of buildings and grounds. Barteltte Hager has succeeded Dr. Paschal in the department of Greek. John Link is one of the four assistant professors in that department W. M. Jenkins is the newly elected postmaster. W. H. Dodd is operating the Wake Forest Hotel. J. Rex Brown is manager of the Brown-Walker Dining Hall.

"Several of the class are doing a great work in the field of education in our state. D. M. Bridges is Superintendent of Public Instruction. His tenure of office being noted for the work be has done in bringing back Greek and Latin in the high schools. L. D. Munn is professor of Greek in the Eastern Carolina Teacher's College. J. E. Miller, who for years taught child psychology at the Western Carolina Teacher's College, is still an old bachelor and is now teaching Latin in the same school—feeling himself more competent in this field.

"Ray Bandy, Grady Carriker, and J. W. Austin are teaching educational psychology in Russia.

"Cecil Bost and Sam Whitesides are chief engineers stationed in South America.

"D. W. Anderson and H. C. Vaughn are automobile salesmen in the town of Louisburg. They are general dealers for the American Austin. They also carry a supply of bicycles and baby carriages. J. F. Voliva is judge of the Recorder's Court of the same town.

"R. T. Gregson is the physical education director at the Asheville Normal. He has the students to scale the heights of Sunset Mountain before sunrise two mornings each week. F. D. Byrd is general ticket agent for the Southern Railroad in Asheville. A. G. Robert and L. G. Sinelair are practicing medicine in the same city. L. P. Barnett is pastor of the North Asheville Baptist Church.

"Eugene Barnes, Jasper Morgan, and C. G. Garrenton are making a howling success touring the country with the "Noisy Orchestra." Garrenton blows the horn while Barnes and Morgan thimble the washboard. They grasped the idea of such an orchestra from a group who performed at the Castle Theatre during their senior year at Wake Forest. Lloyd Thayer announces the numbers to be played and takes up the collection.

"It is rumored that W. E. Brown, the mayor of Greensboro, will likely be the next governor.

"A rather large number of your class occupy important positions in Raleigh. Nathan C. Brooks is the General Secretary of the Baptist Board. Joe Minton is the editor of the Biblical Recorder. Felda Hightower and E. A. MacMillan operate Rex Hospital. R. W. Reeves is a very successful physician in the city. R. L. Foust and Robert Weinstein are practicing law in the firm of Foust and Weinstein.

- S. R. Moore is principal of the High Morson High School. M. V. Parrish is one of the city pastors. J. A. Watkins is president of the Raleigh Bank & Trust Company. G. P. Cullipher is known as Raleigh's most careful street car conductor. M. S. Cashion is a dentist in this city. E. M. Harris is president of Shaw University.
- "J. W. Whisnant is Professor of English at Meredith College. He is one of the most noted Shakespeare scholars of the day. Bennie Crawford is Professor of Greek in the same institution. His students like Xenophon's Anabasis best of all the readings, especially the passages in which Xenophon is on the march.

"Kyle Hayes has a law office in High Point. L. R. Evans is pastor of one of the Baptist churches there. J. R. Dorsett is Professor of Mathematics at High Point College. J. L. Dupree is football coach in that institution.

- "H. L. Bridges is dean of Mars Hill College. He also teaches in the mathematics department.
- "T. W. Poe is Judge of the Recorder's Court in Durham. J. O. Walton is a minister of that city. M. V. Griffin is mayor of Durham. L. R. Hedgpeth and W. C. Hedgpeth have opened a hospital there.
- "W. L. Griggs and T. H. Brantley are connected with the Baptist Hospital at Winston-Salem. Griggs is the general superintendent, and Brantley is head surgeon.
- "J. W. Riggan is doing missionary work in Mexico. E. M. Burris is also in Mexico doing research work.
- "P. A. Meyers soon after leaving college went into the field of architecture. His standing in America ranks with that of Ictinus and Kallikrates of Athens.
- "W. Turner Ray is a physician in Rolesville. D. T. Fuller is an auctioneer in the same town.
- "C. P. Green has retired from the bar in order to increase the production of corn and beans,

"Claud Padgett teaches school at Devil's Fork Gap. C. E. Johnson is a successful lawyer in the same district.

- "Paul Hutchins has been recommended as trainer for the American athletes who will compete in the Olympic games at London in 1956.
- "D. W. Smith has just completed his latest book, "Why Husbands Object to Answering Wives." Mr. Smith has so far had a very happy and successful married life.
 - "J. R. Nance is serving his day and generation well as Circuit Court Judge.
- "J. W. Earp, "Flying Jim," who has been for weeks a missing aviator, was found at Buenaventura, Columbia, with his little blond. J. A. Harrill, assistant secretary of aeronautics in the Department of the Navy had expressed the belief that the flier was safe and would be found.

"The State Board of Health has as its ablest experts, A. J. Weaver, L. P. Bailey, E. H. Reynolds, and H. T. Myers. These men are now doing some pathological research in Stokes County.

"J. W. Ervin is professor of pharmacology in Tulane University. W. A. Hoover is assistant in pathology in the same institution.

"R. A. Brown and R. P. Morehead, staunch pragmatists, have become preeminent in their field in Africa. R. H. Moorefield and H. C. Warwick have established a very large patent medicine business in the same country.

"E. B. Parker and C. M. Collier are manufacturing "Shur Lay Hair Glue."

"C. W. Harrill is a cartographer for the American Automobile Association. His geographical adviser is F. M. Byerly.

"D. M. Graham and O. H. Jones are winning much fame as well as many "frog skins" through their new and improved "Swamp Root Pills."

"Irwin Kitchin is editor of the 'Farm Life Magazine.' He has also been a husband for eighteen years.

"W. P. Hendren is a noted tonsorial artist at Boone. Eugene Harris practices medicine in that town. C. T. Lawrence is thinking of establishing a hospital there.

"G. A. Souther after being cured of pedagogy is doing research work in Greece.

"Good Friend, I have now revealed to you that which you so carnestly desired to know. Take what has been done for you this evening as a token of remembrance from the old prophet of Rattlesnake Mountain."

The fire is gone from Cosiah's long pipe. He quietly walks to the window of his cabin and with deep thoughts gazes in the starry heavens. I leave him with a glad heart to make my way back to those who are waiting for me far down the river.

Last Will and Testament

WAKE COUNTY
STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA April 18, 1931

WE. the Senior Class of Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-one, having survived two years of Phil's strenuous gymnastics, gyrations, and contortions, believe ourselves to be of a sound mind and body; realizing that the day is approaching with great celerity when the dim but real figure of Death shall separate us from this existence; realizing the inability of man to carry with him his worldly possessions to either of those distant realms, we do hereby make and declare this our last will and testament:

- Upon the Junior Class we bestow our Senior Dignity with the desire that they will respect it as much as we have.
- II. Upon the Freshman Class we bestow all the residue of our ignorance and greenness, which, if they bear it, we will be assured that they will be as learned as we are at present.
- 111. As for the Sophomore Class, we prohibit them from admitting a single freshman's bare head to the exposure of sunlight, with the penalty that if they do, they shall suffer the same consequences at the hands of our executors.
- IV. To our newly elected and highly esteemed President, Dr. Kitchin, we bequeath our contributions, financial and otherwise, for the sake of the realization of his dream of a bigger and better Wake Forest.
- V. To our parents, who through their patient and earnest efforts have made it possible for us to drink deep of that desired spring of knowledge, who have received our numerous checks with much anxiety, often dismayed at their frequency and size, we devote our lives toward making ourselves worthy of their hopes and ambitions for us.
- VI. We request that our funeral services be conducted and paid for by our beloved faculty, who have so unselfishly and unstitutedly given their lives to the hastenment of our untimely deaths through their excessive use of quizzes, examinations, and parallel reading.
- VII. To the Faculty we also bequeath the right, and lay upon them the injunction to instruct and direct the wavering footsteps of the ignorant (for they are assumed to be thus) students now in the process of being prepared for entering the portals of knowledge and learning.

VIII. We also leave to the Faculty our love and esteem, and wish them to be assured of our appreciation and gratitude for their devoted efforts in bringing us to see the light, widening our mental horizon, and increasing our keenness of perception.

1X. To the ensning members of the faculty we bequeath the following:

To Professor Memory, the privilege (?) of making plain to the future prospective "Instructors of the Youth" the essentials of a good lesson assignment, and the fundamentals of individuals differences. We, of the departing tennis team, wish him the greatest possible success in developing a United States champion tennis team next year, such as was this year's team.

To Dr. Sledd, our ne'er to be forgotten Professor of Literature, the exclusive right and privilege in his American Literature course to substitute in place of the American Literature, a continuous year's course in United States History, exclusive of all literature whatsoever. We recommend that Dr. Pearson admit him into his History Department as sole teacher of United States history.

To Dr. Hubert Poteat, the exclusive and inalienable right and privilege of consigning the Reverend "Jehovah Heliogabbus," editor of "The Oracle of God," J. Henry Highsmith, and J. Thomas Heliin, "the supreme jackass of all ages," to their respective places in the lower regions, which in polite society is known as "Hades," To him we also bequeath the great pleasure of observing future prospective high school latin teachers in their expostulations of that venerable and ancient language.

X. We do constitute and appoint Dr. Pearson and Dr. Hubert Poteat as the executors of this, our last will and testament, according to the true intent and meaning thereof.

Hereby revoking and making null and void all other wills and testaments heretofore made by us, in testimony whereof, we, the Class of 1931, have to this onr last Will and Testament, subscribed our names on the day and date hereinabove named.

(Signed) THE CLASS OF 1931.

By the Testator.

JUNIOR CLASS POEM

The ship that brought us in the deep Has lost her anchor long ago; Though tossed by surges high and steep Our faith will bring her to the shore.

Let surges roll! Let billows toss! Let every howling storm come here! The ship that sails with this dear Class Is clad with steel that shall endure. Though skies be dark and surges roar,
The duty lies with those on board;
We'll guide her safely to the shore
Where each shall find his own reward.

Soon light will dawn in the eastern sky; The roaring sea will be at peace; We'll give ourselves without a sigh, And some day we will find relief.

Junior Class History

MANY historians have preceded me. Doubtless many will follow, but none such a wealth of material from which to choose or so many illustrious accomplishments to record. Truly, the recounting of the deeds of these men calls for the eloquence and elaborate rhetoric of a Cicero, the divine and immortal music of a Vergil, and the profundity and vocabulary of a Webster. Were the achievements of these men less multitudious, or their interests less varied, I would hesitate to set my pen io motion to portray the activities of this notable group. Even now, I fear that no pen is really capable of justly presenting, for the sake of posterity, the magnificient achievements of this remarkable class.

With our high school diplomas tucked securely under our arms, confident that any institution of higher learning would eagerly welcome such an array of intellectual taleot as we knew we presented, we made our way, from far and near, toward the ivy clad walls of this venerable institution.

When we arrived on a sultry September day in the fall of '28 we were speedily aided in adapting ourselves to our new environment by our worthy predecessors—the class of '31. How quickly our assumed sophistication faded away as amid the resounding whacks of paddles in the hands of the lordly sophomores we were initiated into the mysteries of the "button" and other machinations of the infernal regions, so dear to the Sophomores heart. The famous, though now extinct, "Shirt tail parade" will always remain in our memories although now we are able to take our meals at the table instead of off the mantle. Many of us made investments in chapel songbooks, radiator fees, "gym" tickets, and other vital necessities of a freshman's college life.

And so our freshman year sped gently and swiftly on its way and by the end of May this heterogeocous group of Freshmen had become welded together into one great entity uoe in our love for Wake Forest and for everything for which she stands and one in our determination that in the remaining three years we would win more honors for our class and Alma Mater.

Ah! With what mixed feelings we returned to the campus the next fall. We were Sophomores. In all verity the Reyes Camporum. Determining that the ancient "shirt tail parade" had no place in the modern trend of things, we abolished it, substituting new forms of instruction for the lowly frosh. The task was rather difficult but by the end of the year the Freshmen were satisfied that we had worthily completed our task.

And now, as we contemplate the close of our Junior year, we are just beginning to realize what vast fields of wisdom lie before us, as yet untouched. Truly, the Junior year is a year of transition-of passing into new fields of thought and new realms of activity. It is during this year that most of us really began to arrange our courses to prepare for our life task. Some entered Law, some Medicine, others enrolled in the various schools of the

Without the slightest intention of laudation or boasting 1 feel it expedient that I mention a few of the accomplishments of the Class of '32. In athletics, forensics, literature, music, science, law, and medicine many of our hand have been prominent. The wearers of Old Gold and Black, noted for their athletic prowess, have received many from our class. Wake Forest forensic teams, widely known and justly so, take their best men from our class. This HOWLER, one of the best in years, has both its editor and business manager from the class The-but this grows monotonous. Suffice it to say that in whatever field Old Gold of '32 and Black is represented there will be a member of the class of '32.

We entered Wake Forest at the beginning of Dr. Francis Pendleton Gaines' administration as President. His magnetic personality left a deep imprint upon every boy with whom he came in contact. It was with the deepest regret we saw him leave. Enlisted now under a new leader, our own heloved Dr. Thurman Delna Kitchin, we are looking forward with him to a Greater Wake Forest.

We have completed the third milestone of our college career. We have had our successes and our defeats. We have tried to accept both as good sportsmen.

As we look forward to next year and our last days of college life we sincercly petition the powers above that they shall be as joyful and gay and as filled with happy friendships as those of the past,

Juniors are we-and broud of it.

"Twas in a world of darkness And the sun was well at rest, When a lone crusader mounted To ride into the west.

The rider wore his spurs and boots, this sword hung at his side, The charger knew his master's mind, Was eager for the ride.

The class of '33 was on A mission of renown, For black and cruel ignorance A worthy foe had found.

The battle's on, the victory won The conqueror trudges home Where in the shade of knowledge His laurels he has won.

Sophomore Class History

A MOTLEY herd of mediocre historians have gone before me. They have recorded the histories of still more mediocre classes. Were it not for the fact that this particular history deals with a period of years of the lives of men who within but a short time are to shoulder the burdens of a tired world, I would not consent to the printing of this document. Even now, I fear that no pen is capable of justly presenting to an eagerly expectant world the magnificent achievements of this remarkable class

The Class of '33 made its debut at Wake Forest College on September 16, 1929. This was an unorganized group of men, armed with high school diplomas, seeking truth and greater learning. It was a varied collection of "greenhorns," but before many hours had passed this group of men were bound together in warm friendship by nothing less than the new black caps bearing the gold numerals '33.

College life appeared somewhat different from what we expected. We found ourselves often doing tricks and running errands for the upper classmen. When the words "Button Freshman," were yelled, the victims would gracefully go through the motion which is well known as "buttoning." An unforeseen expense arose. This was in form of paying for chapel seats, chapel hymn books, bath tickets and radiator rent. Many freshmen immediately purchased them at bargain prices lest they should be sold out and not another opportunity presented. But we soon realized how green we were and we acted accordingly.

The Class of '33 has quite an unusual distinction rewarded it as the results of its effort and success. The freshmen baseball team captured the title as state champions. Other active men became leaders in various fields of college activities, such as student publications, literary societies, the Glee Club, basketball and football.

The officers elected during our first year were: Paul H. Appel, President; Elbert C. Anderson, Vice President; and G. A. O'Brien, Secretary.

The Class of '33 was the last class to enter under the administration of the loved Dr. Gaines. We congratulate ourselves for the one year, at least, that we have had to marvel at his commanding personality, to enjoy his mastery of speech, and to become acquainted with his supreme ideals.

As the rising sophomore class, we realized the duty and responsibility that falls on our shoulders. We have endeavored to make the best of the opportunities offered by our Alma Mater. Under the guidance of J. D. Howell, as president, we continue to march forth fearless and hopeful.

And now standing on the Acropolis of her eventful career, thrilled with the brilliancy of its past history, inspired with the hopes for the future, the class of 1933 will go forth hearing a crown of trophies to win yet greater victories for its Alma Mater.

Freshmen Class History

SEPTEMBER 15, 1930, saw a horde of green Newish descend on Wake's revered campus and, by conquest of loud noise, proclaim that the class of '34 was present to assume possession. The days that followed brought a sense of surprise, excitement, and perhaps, not a little loneliness; but these days bound unorganized men together in a mutual hond of fellowship and led them to know that it is also well to serve.

Thus, it came to pass, by official and unofficial means, the freshman class was orientated to a new life. Their Majesties, the Sophs, did their invaluable part by keeping obstreperous young men bobbing beneath the new black caps constantly. The men who bobbed deepest saw campus life from new angles. Poignant impressions were given and received.

Contacts that were to make the succeeding months worthwhile resulted in the informal meetings at night in the college chapel. With Dean Bryan as toastmaster, a three ring circus was initiated wherein each freshman could gaily ride the high horse of his past achievements. Those nights were moments of high promise, and the fact that asperations soured into thin air shouldn't, perhaps, make them appear less worthy.

With the help, as days passed, of three-fourths of the student body, the freshmen finally got adjusted. Being welcomed, from the beginning, by a friendly spirit, the new men entered into the activities of the campus. They made early attempts in the scholastic, literary, and journalistic world about them. From the large class of 226, only six failed to pass required work, the first semester. As the balf-year term rolled to completion, the class sported seventeen of its members on the Honor Roll. In the realm of sports, the freshman teams in football, basketball, tennis, baseball, and track seemed to provide a nucleus from which players of ability would develop later. Abetted by flexible vocal cords and crooning horns, several Newish filled places in the Glec Club and College Band. The men after their introduction to every phase of activity rounded out their first year of development by organizing into a class body. Harry Sells was elected president. His aides in the offices of vice president and secretary were Wallace Temples and Herbert Bauconn.

The unfolding of the mysteries of initiation reached completion late in March. The mighty Soph, endgel in hand, led the long parade to the old athletic field. Here with a boufire roaring, the freshmen cut capers under direction, sang unintelligible ditties, professed incurable greenness, rivaled Cam Morrison's oratory, and generally went through the paces. Nothing was done incompletely. The effigy of serfdom (the black cap) was duly encased in its coffin, prayed over, and consigned to the flames. It was a tearless funeral, but a glorious night.

As the first year closes on this new adventure—college, there stands forth in the class of '34 many distinctive features. It is the first freshman class inaugurated in the administration of Wake Forest's new president. There is no little pride in this fact; for between executive and student exists the feeling that they have taken the road together. Again, this class, drawing it representatives from many states, is one of the largest to be enrolled on the student roster. Finally, this group of men meets the challenge of the college's Jubilee Year. To produce a worth name on the Alma Mater's one hundredth anniversary is not an inglorious mission. Such a goal beckons the class of '34.

History of Medical Class 1931

ROM the four corners of this State and several others a heterogenous mob of would-be medical students began to assemble themselves for torture in the "owl's roost" (the dissecting room) and to familiarize themselves with the harassing details of the science and general art of the practice of medicine. We found by painful experience that the aforementioned subjects could be learned and acquired by running up the light bill of the College. From time to time we heard gentle insimations and immendos from our different professors that some of our number were perhaps slightly dumb. (We do not know whether the term was meant in a figurative or literal sense, perhaps literal.) No one knows, except the members of our class and our predecessors, of the agony and anguish that we have experienced. But now the hideousness of the past has, we hope, reached its termination and, like Alexander the Great, we shall go forth and seek new worlds to conquer.

We feel that we have some man that would be successful in the field of research—Huter Jones will probably seek to determine the effects of temperature on the human body. Sinclair and Roberts wish to discover some scheme by which one man can secure a medical education for two. Fats Griggs will seek to discover if the Flexor pollicis longus and Flexor pollicis brexis can be separated by a saw driven by a one and one-half horse power motor. Tom Brantley plans to spend one year on the study of the semicircular canals of the heart. Reeves wishes to perfect his technique of surgery to the extent that the vocal cords of an individual may be so tuned as to reproduce the voice of a fellow-man. And we feel sure that Reeves would particularly appreciate having his own "pig calling apparatus," so reconstructed as to emit tones analogous to those so often heard in the vicinity of the physics building.

Like all assemblages of such a versatile nature the class of '31 is capable of participation in various and sundry fields, but so far no other talent has been shown that in the mind of the recorder is of any historical importance. We feel sure, however, that in the years to come important history will be made and that the class of '31 will be a great factor in its making. We leave you, therefore, with an unfinished manuscript, and we sincerely hope that you will follow closely the achievements of the aspiring medicos here assembled and at some future date the history of the class, begun so diligently in the Fall of 1929, will be completed and recorded.

Law Class History

No history of the present law class would be complete without first giving a brief sketch of the struggles and achievements of the law school in the past. For thirty-seven years the law school has been an active and vital part of our dear Ahma Mater. Throughout this period of useful existence the department has had at its head a remarkable man; an attempt to describe him to those who have sat at his feet could add nothing, and to those who have not known him personally all the describite powers of the great masters of the past ages could not accurately portray his appreciation of the higher things of life, his never failing sense of humor, and his supreme desire for justice to humanity. As the work grew heavier and the opportunities became greater Professor E. W. Timberlake in 1906 was made associate professor of law to assist Dr. Gulley. In 1916 the need of more help was felt and Professor R. B. White was added to this group. These three great men have served most unselfishly to the present time.

"By their fruits shall ye know them?" During the thirty-seven years of the activities of the law school, fourteen hundred and twenty-six licensed attorneys have been sent forth into the world to proclaim the "Law of the land." The great number of judges, solicitors, and others holding high offices of honor and trust who claim Wake Wake Forest College as their Alma Mater is only an outward indication of the lives of those whose destinies have been shaped while studying law at "Dear 'Ole Wake."

The Law Library, under the direction of Mr. Donald Gulley, is increasing its usefulness and expanding its scope continually. Some two thousand volumes have already been added this year and eight thousand more are to be added before the beginning of the next school year.

Many of the leading students of the campus this year have been from the law class of 1931. The "Demon Deacon" football, baskethall, baseball, tennis, and track teams have had generous representation from our group. High offices of the student body have been admirably filled by members of our class. Every member of the class of '31 is a licensed attorney, many of them having secured their license while yet in their junior year.

The moot court has been a marked success throughout this year. Cases of interest representing various types and classes of litigation both civil and criminal are tried at the weekly meeting of our court. We of the class of '31 have made a special effort to carry out as nearly as possible the trials in the same monner as those of ordinary state courts in order that we may receive the maximum benefit from this practice. We have been very fortunate in securing some of the outstanding lawyers and judges of this part of the state to hold court from time to time.

In closing this brief account of the history of the class of '31 we feel that possibly the greatest thing we have to take away with us is the fellowship and lasting friendship of our professors and our fellow students. In using the thought of our beloved Dr. Gulley, our wealth is likely to be swept away at any time, our health may fail us at the time we need it most, but our friends are our only lasting comfort that we may rely on throughout our earthly existence.

We of the class of '31 hesitate to boast of our achievements while students; our efforts seem extremely small as we look back upon them, but we do feel that we have in a measure caught a glimpse of the great possibilities that present themselves to young lawyers and we admonish you to watch our efforts in future years.

WADE E. BROWN, Historian.

Review of Debate Season

THE Varsity Debate schedule this year consisted of twenty inter-collegiate debates. Of these nine were won, five were lost, and six were non-decision debates. The percentage of debates won was sixty-four. In all contests with North Carolina teams Wake Forest debaters were winners. Wake Forest was the only school to defeat State and Davidson in North Carolina. Our North Carolina record gives us the mythical state championship in debating. In the contest of Province of South Atlantic held at Farmville, Va., Wake Forest won first place in the Extempore Oratorical Contest. All debates were on the subject of "Free Trade" except the contest with Western State Teachers College which was on "Disarmament."

The schedule with the teams is as follows:

State College (twice)-both won by Smith and Deaton.

Davidson College—Won by Smith and Deaton.

Virginia State Teachers' College (twice)-Smith and Deaton. Won by V. S. T. C.

Waynesburg College-Ford and Carroll. Won by W. F.

Temple University-Ford and Smith. Won by W. F.

Emory University-Ford and Grogan. Won by W. F.

Richmond University-Smith and Deaton. Won by W. F.

Furman University-Smith and Deaton. Won by Furman.

Non-decision debates:

State College (twice)—Bridges and Mitchell; Brown and Deaton,

Catawba College-Brown and Proette.

Asheville Normal-Hyde, Hagaman, and Burns.

Western State Teachers' College-Burns and Carroll.

Emory University—Smith and Deaton.

Convention of Southern Association of Teachers of Speech, Atlanta:

High Point. Won by W. F.

University of Alabama. Won by U. of A.

Tennessee Wesleyan. Won by W. F. North Texas State Teachers' College. Won by Texas.

Smith and Deaton debated against these teams. W. F. tied with N. C. State for second place but had previously defeated N. C. S. twice and Tennessee Wesleyan once. In reality W. F. had a clear claim to second place.

Wake Forest tied for first place in declaiming. E. T. Harrell was the representative.

Class History

Doctor Paschal, a scholar and professor of Greek, has said, "The chief passion of the world is religion, and he who prepares himself for religious instruction will be able to reach and to help the people in a powerful way." You may go throughout this sunny Southland of ours, into both urban and rural districts, and you will find men who, having at one time trodden the sacred walks of Wake Forest College, are giving their efforts and thoughts for the noble cause of helping humanity. Prominent among these men are to be found pastors and other philanthropists who were once members of this Ministerial Class.

The history made by the class this year is not unusual or exceptional; nevertheless it is glorious, because the present members have held high the standards and traditions set by those members gone before. On Septembr 15, 1930, a number of new personalities were added to the class. At that time seventy-two aspirants—scholarly ministers, not only from all over North Carolina, but from South Carolina, Georgia, Maine, Tennessee, and Missouri, had the privilege of being matriculated as ministerial students at Wake Forest College.

Each Wednesday evening, turning aside from their ordinary literary pursuits, these men met—from this weekly class meeting the members adopted the name "Ministerial Class"—for a three-fold purpose; namely, to worship God, to enjoy a friendly and strengthening fellowship with each other, and to study how they may best serve God and man. The objectives of the class, we believe, have been greatly reached through an exceptionally good attendance of its members, by the skillful leadership of its president, W. II. Ford, and by the competent work of its learned teacher, Dr. Cullom.

In addition to Dr. Cullom's instructive lessons and the interesting programs given by the members, the class had the privilege of having quite a number of distinguished men speak to it, among whom were Dr. Sledd and Dr. Hubert Poteat of the faculty, Dr. Turner of Raleigh, Dr. Leavel of Nashville, Tenn., and Dr. Evans of Rochester, N. Y.

In this short history, if it he possible, we wish to remind each member of the class of our brotherhood and pleasant work together.

JOHN R. LANK, Class Historian.

DEACONS OPEN SEASON WITH SURPRISE ATTACK

Wake Forest opened her 1930 season against Carolina and with a steady line and a flashing backfield handed out surprise after surprise to the thousands of fans present in Kenan Stadium. For the past two seasons the Tar Heels had "walloped" the Deacons by large scores but when the score stood 7-7 at the half and 13-7 at the end of the game, no one present doubted the fact that the greatest Deacon team since the days of Garrity had played that day, although the Tar Heels had won. Praise was heard far and near and Deacon stock rose several points.

DEACONS PERSECUTE THE QUAKERS FOR FOUR QUARTERS

On October 1 the Guilford "Quakers" journeyed down to Wake Forest to try their strength against the Demon Deacons. The Deacons had quite a reputation to live up to as their praise had been sung far and near as a result of the Carolina game. For the first half the score was 0-0. The Deacons came back the second half and ran rough-shod over the Quakers. The backfield was as flashy as ever and the line strong and steady. Quillin darted here and there and Mills got away for several long and sensational runs, and when the game ended the score stood 20-0 with the Deacons on top.

FOOTBALL "TRACK-MEET" STAGED AGAINST BALTIMORE

Baltimore University came down to Wake Forest on October 10. This game furnished the Deacons with plenty of practice resembling a track-mect. The Deacons gained yard after yard, they continually had the ball in Baltimore's territory, they were never satisfied with less than a touchdown, and when the game ended the score stood 44-0 in their favor. This game was featured by sensational runs by Mills, Quillin, Hipps, and Covington. The work of Benton at quarter was excellent and the linemen held Baltimore from gaining ground time and time again and opened huge holes in the opposing line for the Deacon backs. Hipps favored the fans with a sensational run of seventy yards without any interference while returning a punt. Needless to say the goal line was his stopping place. Hutchins, at quarter, also made a nerve-racking, plunging, hard carned thirty-yard run for a touchdown. Every Deacon on the squad saw action in this game.

DEACONS AVENGE THE '29 SCORE IN FAIR-WEEK GAME

The Annual Fair Weck Game between Wake Forest and N. C. State was played on Riddick Field October 16. State won the '29 game by a two-point margin, although outplayed by Wake Forest in every phase of the game. On this day, however, the Deacons were determined to avenge that score. In the preceding games this team had built up a reputation such as it had not known since Garrity had coached a Deacon team to victory. The line, strongest in the state, and the backfield combined all their efforts and gave an exhibition of snappy, flashy, heads-up football, and even a Wolfpack could not withstand the Deacons as they rushed onward, heards and all. The line was much strengthened by the return of Gregson, and as usual he played a game as only Gregson could. The flashing backs seemed to "breeze" along and Wake Forest came out on top. Revenge was sure and sweet.

TOO MUCH FOR THE BEARS

The Deacons seemed to place a jinx on all animals during the season of 1930. Not only did the Wolfpack go down under their attack, but the very next game the Mercer Bears were shown that Baptist Deacons are pretty obstinate fellows sometimes. This game was played in Wilmington. As usual the line, a veritable tower of strength, opened wide holes for the swift, flect, nimble backs who got away for eye-opening runs. Brogden, end, featured in the work of the line. Every man was playing a game that brought credit and humor to his Alma Mater. Each man was doing his part to add another victory to those already won by the men of Coach "Pat." When the dust cleared the Bears were found completely wiped out by a score of 21-0.

TOO MUCH DARKNESS FOR THE BAPTISTS

On November 1 the Deacons took a trip up to Philadelphia to meet Temple University. This was the only night game played this year and the darkness proved a hindrance to the Demon Deacons. Such a hindrance, in fact, that Temple had the pleasure of seeing Wake Forest lose by a 36-0 score. This may be partially explained by the fact that eleven Deacons were not quite enough to destroy a pretty good sized Temple.

PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE PROVES TOO MUCH

On November 8 Coach Pat's boys took a little trip up to Asheville to meet an old acquaintance. This old acquaintance, not satisfied with holding Wake Forest to a scoreless tie in '29, was determined to take home the bacon. Of course, not wanting to disappoint the boys from P, C, the Deacons let them have the large end of the score. This was somewhat the situation of the year before when the Demon Deacons went North to play the Navy and played P, C, upon their return, the score being 0-0. In view of this situation of two successive years it would seem that after going North the Deacons need at least a game in which to get warmed up again.

DEACONS AND DEVILS FIGHT FOR VICTORY

On November 22 the Blue Devils from across the way came over to Wake Forest to shave the Deacons. However, the Blue Devils were more black than blue when the game ended. Too much praise cannot be given the Wake Forest team for their wonderful playing in this game. The Deacon team worked like a million-dollar machine. Every part coordinated perfectly, The plays were perfectly timed. Each man was "Johnnie on the spot." The true Deacon spirit was shown-a never dying spirit! One man played the entire game with a broken rib, and another, in the words of Mr. Bost, played "with his eyes entirely gouged out." The line lived up to its reputation of being the strongest in the state and piled on more glory by holding the Devils on the one-yard line for eight plays. Not only did it hold against the attacks of Brewer and Murray and the Devils, but it opened up holes for the Deacon backs. The Duke line was like paper against the slaughtering, slithering, slashing, plunging attack of Gregson, Webb, Williams, Parker, Dupree, Levine, and Brogden. These men paved the way for Mills, Quillen, Covington, and Bradley. Over all was the veteran, Jit Benton, driving the Deacons to a flashing, shining, brilliant attack. 'The work of Benton at the quarterback position will long be remembered by football fans of North Carolina. At one time the Deacons had the Devils the score stood 13-7. Fighting like Devils the Dukemen came back and after a scorching attack from the one-yard line, Bill Murray ran around the end for a touchdown and a tied score. For further events of that game one is referred to the Greensboro Daily News of November 23.

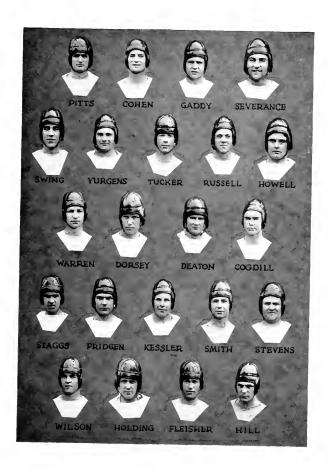

DAVIDSON GOES DOWN UNDER DEACON ROLLER

On Thanksgiving Day the Deacons, still sore and wounded from their encounter with the Devils, traveled up to Charlotte to mix with the Wildeats. Surely these Cats would prove too much for a tired, sore, and wounded Deacon. But no! the Deacon spirit arose and commanded a victory and a victory was won! The Deacon machine worked so perfectly throughout the game that to pick out outstanding players would be a difficult task. Each man played his best and this game was the last for many Deacon players. Captain Parker, Mills, Quillin, Levine, Gregson, Benton and many others saw their last action under the Old Gild and Black banner. When the game was over Wake Forest had added another victory to those already won and the team had rivaled that Championship Team of Garrity's.

A survey of the season shows that out of nine games Wake Forest won five, tied one, and he brond to three. Coach Pat Miller certainly gave Wake Forest a team that any school would be proud to honor and a team that would be an honor to any school. No cleaner, squarer team ever played football on a North Carolina gridfron. Wake Forest placed four men on the first All-State team and three on the second All-State team. Mills, flashy halfback, Williams, hefty guard, received honorable mention for the All-American. No Wake Forest team was ever better supported by the Almmi and Students and friends. A great team—here's to 'en!

1930-31 Basketball Results

The 1930 basketball season was not one of an unusually amount of high honors. The apparent lack of success was partially due to the introduction of a new system under a new coach with practically all new men.

The first tilt of the season was with the strong Villanova Wildcats. In the first game Old Gold and Black showed some very good material but was overcome by the more experienced basketers.

Meeting old rivals once more in the State College game the Wake Forest team put up a losing fight to the erstwhile Southern Conference champions, losing by a score of 42-20.

The two next games of the season were played at Durham, one with the powerful Duke quint and the other with the professional Durham "Y." Both teams proved to be stronger adversaries than Wake Forest was able to overcome.

Still feeling the call to battle professionals the Foresters engaged in a fast game with the Raleigh "Y" club. This game was one of the fastest of the season, but the inexperience of the home team led to a 28-42 defeat.

Carolina gave the Deacons one of the most severe trouncings of the season by snowing them under with a 30-13 score.

On a northern trip two games each were played with the Temple Owls and the Atlantic States champions of Rider College. Although the Deacons staged some marvelous fights in these games they lost them all. The most thrilling game of the trip was with George Washington University in which the Southerners were at the height of form and kept the score ahead until the last few minutes of the game. They lost gamely with the final score being 32-28.

V. P. I. furnished Wake Forest with one-half its wins of the season in a hotly contested fray at the local gym. The Gobblers were unable to withstand the powerful attack of Webb, center, Joyner and Barnes, forwards. The first win of the season gave the fans a thrill with a 10-19 score.

Exulting in their victory over V. P. 1, the Deacons put up such a fight against State College in the next game that they surprised themselves by winning in the last minute of the game by a 1 point margin, the score being 20-21.

Meeting Duke soon after the State game resulted in the usual defeat, but with the experience gained in the previous two wins the Deacons gave the Devils a surprise by running them a close race for winning honors.

The last two games of the season were played against two other Big Five teams—Carolina and Davidson. These two games were hard fought affairs, but the Deacons were no match for the powerful Carolina five, and the Davidsonians by dent of their traditional wins managed to get the last laugh by a short margin.

Playing in most of the games of the season Webh, Barnes, and Joyner were easily the stars. Also, Earp, flashy forward, showed good form in several of the games.

Although the season can not be said to have been a decided success, it is hoped that with the new coach and the experience gained this season that next year the Deacons will enjoy a more profitable experience.

1930 Varsity Baseball

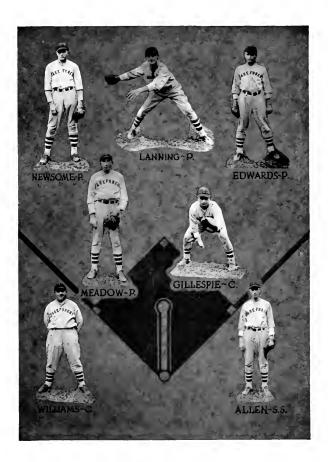

LANNING, Captain

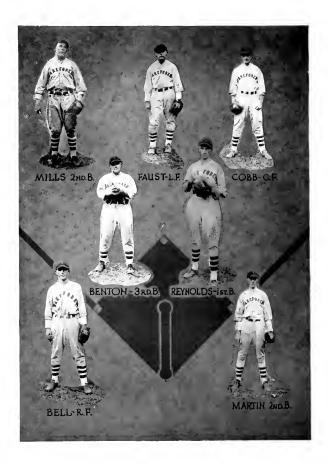

Woodard, Manager

1930 Varsity Baseball

The Denon Deacon Nine had a very successful season during 1930. Twenty-one games were played during the spring. Of these the Deacons were victorious ten times while the opponents gave us the small end of the score eleven times. In spite of this the Deacon machine's total score was fifteen points higher than the total score of their opponents. The score stood 108 for the Deacon opponents and 123 for the Deacons. Capt. Ton Lanning was the main cog in the Deacon machine. He served gloriously, this bis last year as a Deacon "pill-tosser." Around this veteran was built a team of real spirit, one that upheld and furthered the Wake Forest spirit of "heads-up" ball. Associated with Captain Lanning were several other veterans. There was Joe Meador, backing Captain Lanning on the mound, and a good pitcher was he! Nappy Reynolds on first base handed out many thrills to a tense crowd of spectators. Eustace Mills, of Football fame, lived up to the reputation set by Al Dowtin of the 1929 team when he held down second base. On third was the "hefty" fullback of Football fame, "Jit" Benton, who could chase a baseball as fast as anybody in spite of his size. The fielders were a classy bunch. They furnished plenty of thrills for excited audiences who craved thrills and excitement.

Wake Forest opened the season by meeting Georgetown University at Wake Forest. The enemies proved too strong and the Deacons went down under an 8-0 score. Just a week later revenge was gotten by giving Springfield the small end of the score. Then came the Wildcats from Davidson down to Wake Forest looking for Deacon meat. However, the Deacons nimbly jumped here and there and "swatted" a few quite a distance and when the game was over the Wildcats were on the small end of a 13-2 score. The next three games were with Catawba, Henderson, and Appalachian State Teachers' College. Wake Forest won the first and last but lost to Henderson. The next two games were with the Blue Devils and for once in history the Blue Devils got the hest of the Deacons and sent them to — the showers on the small end of both scores.

After such drubbings by the Devils the Deacons journeyed to Guilford and "licked the socks off" the Quakers. Then on over to Davidson where the Wildcats were tamed once again. From Davidson the team came to Elon and Winston-Salem where they won from Elon but lost to the Winston League.

After this trip the Deacons were rather tired and N. C. State insisted on playing them in a tired condition. Not wanting to refuse the Deacons played, but being such gallant gentlemen cost them the game. State won 3-0.

Piedmont College came up from Georgia to take a 19-1 loss as the next victims of Coach Caddell's protegės. This victory gave the Deacons a "smell of blood," so they went over and won from Carolina.

Being pretty hot about this time a Northern trip was planned. The first battle was with the University of Pennsylvania. The aforesaid University cooled the Deacons off by taking the large end of the score. In fact every team played on this trip cooled our boys off by doing the same thing. Georgetown, the Quantico Marioes, and the Navy gave the Deacs a good ducking and sent them home longing for the hot country again.

After getting home and getting warmed up the Deacs went over to Chapel Hill and doubled the score on the Tar Heels. Not being satisfied with this they went over to the Wolfpack den and completely "whitewashed" all Wolves in sight.

This ended the season and the Deacs came home just as fresh as ever and each and every one looking forward to the Season of '31 when they could find "New Worlds to Conquer."

Frosh Baseball 1930

The 1930 Deaclet Basehall team had a very successful season. They made their debut by winning games and when the season closed they were still winning. It was perhaps the flashiest, hardest hitting and hardest playing Freshman team that has struck Wake Forest in many years. They played a brand of hall seldom seen in these parts except in a seasoned and experienced college nine.

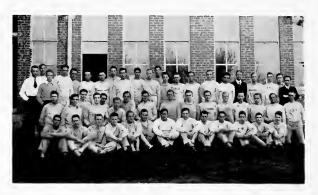

The year's wins were featured by the flashy plays of Earp, third baseman; Bethnue, shortshop, Joyner, first base; Hicks as the superb little catcher, and Lister in the field an hitting. Also the pitching of Barnes and Griffin would have been an asset of any team.

As the season neared a close the Baby Deacons defeated the strong State College Freshmen by a 3-1 score for their twelfth straight victory and the assurance of the State Championship banner. Their season was closed after two more games which did not affect their ranking as State Champions for 1830.

This team was so good that with the exception of four men the present Varsity team for '31 is entirely composed of Sophomore players.

STATE TRACK MEET

Second in Javelin Sam Whiteside

Burris, Manager

1930 Track

Although Wake Forest did not win the majority of its meets last year, it had several rather outstanding men to its credit, Kinsey, Daprec, "Tv" Jones, Fuller and Byrd. Kinsey would be easily the "high point" man in the state with a total of 119 points to his credit. He is also holder of the State Broadjump record of 23 feet one-half inch. Dupree is second high score man in the college with an aggregate of 56 points. He is also a State Record holder with the javelin throw of 186 feet 5 and one-half inches. The other men of note on the squad are "Ty" Jones, Flemming Fuller, Elsie Webb, "Doug" Byrd, who made over 30 points each for the season. Cox, Hutchins and Edwards all came in with a score of above 20 points.

The first meet of the season was a dual with Elon College, at Wake Forest. Wake Forest easily came out on the big end a 1071/2 to 181/2 score. Kinsey, as usual, was the high scorer for "Old Gold and Black" with three first and two second and one third place.

On the invasion of Duke the meet proved to be hard fought. Duke, however, had the strongest team to send our boys home with a 72-54 defeat. Kinsey again was the high score man of the meet with two first, one second and a third place. The meet was hotly contested all the way through and it was a well-earned victory for the "Devils."

The next meet, with State College was a sort of one man team running for Wake Forest. Kinsey ran away with four first and two third places with a total of 22 points. State won the meet with the score of 7015-5515.

Guilford invaded the territory of the "Deacons" and was sent back home on the weak end of a 107-19 point win for the fourth meet of the season. Kinsey was high point man.

The team made a journey to Riehmond and won the meet for the first time since it had been meeting the Richmond "Spiders." It was a hard-earned victory for the Deacons with a score of 661/2 to 591/2. Kinsey again was high point man with four first places.

From Richmond the team journeyed on to Washington D. C., and met Catholic University. This time the score was against Wake Forest 71-52. "Ty" Jones," our star pole vaulter, soared to a new school record for the University at the height of eleven feet six inches.

At the hands of the Davidson "Wildeats" the Deacons suffered its worst defeat of the season by a score of 98½-27½. The strength of the team was severely taxed by this powerful team of Davidson. Wake Forest seems to have never been able to defeat the "Wildeats" in Track and thus this year they keep up the tradition. However to be defeated by a team of that calibre is no signal disgrace.

The end of the Track Season was a trip to the State Meet at Greensboro where Kinsey and Dupree defended and won again their usual first places. These records have been standing for three years. So ended for the Deacon Track Team a very successful season.

1931 Varsity Tennis

The outstanding events of the year in tennis for 1930-31 were the completion of three new tennis courts on the corner of Highways No. 50 and No. 55, and the participation of a Freshman tennis team in intercollegiate matches for the first time. The varsity was built around three letter men from last year, Jim Vernon, Frank Fletcher and Delmont Griffin. The new men who completed the varsity last fall were William Glenn, Dan Smith, and Carl Brown. The team lost its best player by the failure of Captain Vernon to return to school the second semester. This loss was partially offset by the addition of Darmin Cobb for the Spring Semester.

The annual fall tournament brought to light hitherto unknown talent, especially among the Freshmen. This tournament was won for the third consecutive time by Captain John Vernon, of Burlington, N. C. The runner-up was Delmont Griffin of Rocky Mount, N. C. The final match of this tournament went full five sets and the outcome was in doubt until the last game. This tournament also brought to the front Freshmen Buxton, Bryan, Robeson, Hutchins, Collins and Wyche, who composed this year's freshman team.

The annual Spring tournament for Varsity and Freshmen brought out some of the best tennis that has been seen on Wake Forest Campus in many years. The varsity tournament was won for the first time by Darwin "Lefty" Cobb of Atlanta, Georgia. The runner-up was Manager and Acting-Captain Frank Fletcher of Raleigh, N. C. The freshmen tournament was won by D. B. Bryan, Jr., of Wake Forest, N. C. The runner-up was Bart Robeson of Red Springs, N. C.

The varsity schedule included at least two matches with all the Big Five Colleges (of N. C.). One match with the Raleigh Tennis Club, one with the Wake Forest Faculty, and one with Wake Forest Freshmen. Of all matches played the varsity won three and lost seven. A more detailed result of the matches follows below.

Two members of the varsity entered the State Collegiate Tennis Tournament at Chapel Hill, April 23, 24, and 25, namely, Delmont Griffin and Frank Fletcher. Both met up with stiff opposition in the first round singles, and were eliminated in spite of a creditable showing. They paired together in doubles and defeated the No. I doubles team from State College in the first round, only to lose to Hines and Grant, the No. I doubles team of U. N. C., in the second round.

The freshman team played seven matches and won four of them. Their worst defeat was at the hands of the U. N. C., freshman team. On May 6, 1931, a five-man team and Manager Frank Fletcher went on a four-day trip embracing Charlotte High, Wingate Junior College, Burlington High, and Oak Ridge. Rain blocked all of match one and part of two other matches, but the freshman eame out on the winning side in the long run. The membership of the freshman team in the order of their ranking is as follows: D. B. Bryan, Jr., Wake Forest, N. C.; Bart Robeson, Red Springs, N. C.; Sam Buxton, Newport News, Va.; Robert Hutchins, Spencer, N. C.; Andrew Collins, Nashville, N. C.; and Henry Wyche, Whiteville, N. C.

The membership of the varsity of necessity changed quite a bit during the spring season. The following men have played in at least one match this spring: Delmont Griffin, Rocky Mount; Darwin "Lefty" Cobb, Atlanta, Ga.; Frank Fletcher, Raleigh; William Glenn, Red Springs; Edward Harrell, Roseboro; Daniel Smith, Wagram; Joe Minton, Franklin, Va.; T. Carl Brown, Statesville; and Archie Carroll, Wilson,

Acknowledgments

The task of an editor in producing an annual is hard or easy, depending on the degree of cooperation received.

That this book has not been a burden in its preparation is largely due to "Slim" Davis and other assistants on the Campus; to the Siddell Studios for excellent photographic service; to the Charlotte Engraving Company for their expeditions handling of engravings and art work; the Edwards & Broughton Company and especially Mr. Howell Smith for their fine coöperation in avoiding delay and for their careful work. To all of them, we extend our appreciation. Without their help, a year book of the caliber we have tried to produce would have been impossible.

A maid was being fired by her mistress and was rather peeved. "I'm better looking than you. More handsome," she spat. "How do I know? Your husband told me so."

"That will do," said her mistress, frigidly,

"But I ain't finished yet," retorted the maid. "I can give a better kiss than you. Want to know who told me that, ma'am?"

"If you mean to suggest my hushand-"

"No, it wasn't your hushand this time. It was your chauffeur."— N. C. S. Wataugan.
